

[Inside this issue] AUG/SEPT_04

FEATURE >>> SURVEY >>> DILEMMA >>> NEWS >>> BRIEFING >>> DIARY

- 03 LEADER
Not occupational therapy Occupational physicians are 'biased', and OH nurses are valued for their 'comfort and sympathy'. Time for some public relations?
- 04 NEWS
 ... draft stress standards ... washing-machine death ... £354,000 for latex allergy ... fined for incompetence ... accident investigation too slow ... working hours ... drug testing inquiry ... DDA covers sick pay ... OH physicians must do better... public bodies must demand EL certificates ... Lords rules in Archibald disability case ... Callaghan reappointed at HSC
- 13 FEATURE
First aid at work
 The HSE is analysing responses to its discussion document on a possible overhaul of the First-Aid Regulations. Possible changes include the introduction of a three-tier system of first aiders and annual refresher training. Becky Allen reports.
- 16 FEATURE
Safer needles by stealth
 The UK does not have specific legislation mandating healthcare employers to use safer needle devices to reduce the risk of needlestick injuries. Dr Denis D'Auria argues, however, that the Court of Appeal ruling that the COSHH Regulations impose an absolute duty to control exposure to hazardous substances trumps the argument that safer needles are not reasonably practicable on grounds of cost.
- 26 FEATURE
Safe and healthy working
 Scotland's OH&S service for SMEs is one year old. Karen Niven believes the service has not only met its objectives, but may provide a model for OH provision across the UK.
- 28 DILEMMA
What's in a name?
 Helen Riches argues that the job title 'OH nurse' conjures up stereotypical and dated images. Jan Maw and Carol Bannister disagree.
- 30 EXPERT WITNESS
Disability discrimination
 From 1 October, 166,000 police officers, 46,000 fire-fighters and 45,000 prison officers will come under the protection of the DDA. But what will this mean in practice? Diana Kloss explains.
- 32 RESEARCH DIGEST
 ... treatment for HAVs ... ill-health retirement ... hepatitis B immunisations ... OH projects ... passive smoking ... shift work ... rehab management
- 36 BOOKSHELF & DIARY
- 37 TOOLBOX
 ... roundup of regulatory changes, guidance, campaigns and consultations ... major hazards ... disability bill ... offshore regulations ... waste industry charter ... HAVS ... eczema week

SURVEY

20 Wish you were here?

The working hours, workload, training and career development opportunities of OH and H&S professionals are discussed in the second part of OH at Work's exclusive survey, carried out in association with AXA PPP Healthcare. Paul Suff continues his examination of the responses from 468 practitioners, and analyses the data by profession, gender and region.

FUTURE

Coming up in OH at Work >>> stress at work: time for a rethink?

 >>> asbestos management – is the jigsaw complete? >>> managing psychological trauma >>> workers' health information – the new data protection code