

[Inside this issue] FEB/MAR_06

FEATURES >>> LEGAL >>> DILEMMA >>> NEWS >>> RESEARCH >>> BRIEFING >>> DIARY

- 03 LEADER
Delivering competence. What drives competence in occupational health?
 closely with other nursing specialists in developing workplace mental health interventions. Lyndon Davies and Neil Kitchiner explain.
- 04 NEWS
 ... goodbye OFR – Chancellor announces end to operating and financial review legislation ... discrimination of mothers-to-be still rife ... REACH gets a step closer ... all smoking should go, says BHA ... smokers need not apply ... emerging risks ... ring up for a hearing test
- 07 LEGAL NEWS
 ... whistle-blowing, stress and a 'Stalinist show trial' – Edmund Edward Cavendish v Greater Manchester (South) Limited T/A Stagecoach Manchester ... employer had 'constructive knowledge' of disability – Department for Work and Pensions v Hall ... doctors' registration – proposed amendments to the Medical Act 1983
- 09 FEATURE
Delivering OH services – part 1
 John Ballard discusses the findings of nationwide research on benchmarking in occupational health nursing. The research was commissioned by the RCN Society of Occupational Health Nursing and examines OH service delivery, competences, professional support and development opportunities.
- 17 FEATURE
First class contract delivery?
 Royal Mail outsourced its occupational health and employee support services to Atos Origin in August 2002. Paul Suff talks to Dr Steve Boorman, Royal Mail's director of corporate responsibility and chief medical officer, for the latest on how the arrangement is working.
- 20 FEATURE
A partnership approach to mental health at work
 A partnership between South Wales Fire and Rescue Service and a local NHS department of liaison psychiatry demonstrates how OH nurses can work
- 24 FEATURE
Obesity, work and employment
 Over half of men and women in the UK are overweight and more than one-fifth are obese. Dr Nerys Williams discusses the implications of obesity for work and the role of OH professionals in its management.
- 28 DILEMMA
The Bradford Factor
 Are Bradford Scores the best way of calculating sickness absence rates? Stephen Bevan of The Work Foundation takes a different view to Julian Topping of NHS Employers.
- 30 EXPERT WITNESS
Blowing the whistle
 The Public Interest Disclosure Act 1998 gives protection to employees who blow the whistle on employers that they believe have either broken the law or acted in a way that could be harmful to society. Diana Kloss explains how the law works and why it is relevant to occupational health and safety.
- 32 RESEARCH DIGEST
 ... workplace noise and the heart ... predicting return to work ... no time to weight ... lowering CVD risks through diet ... treating obesity ... research casts further doubt on PSA screening ... risk factors in MSD disability ... psychosocial risk factors ... construction injury prevention
- 36 BOOKSHELF & DIARY
 ... health and work handbook ... key events in occupational health
- 37 TOOLBOX
 ... vibration guidance ... WEL consultation ... workplace transport
- 39 BRIEFING
 ... your need to know guide to this issue