

[Inside this issue] DEC/JAN_06/07

FEATURES >>> LEGAL >>> INSIGHT >>> NEWS >>> RESEARCH >>> BRIEFING >>> DIARY

- 03 LEADER
Sweden to lose benchmark status Centre-right government to close Sweden's National Institute for Working Life and decimate its inspectorate
- 04 NEWS
 ... driving down road accidents ... enforcement action set for upturn ... asbestos sufferers to retain more of their money ... HSC annual ill health and injury data ... zero tolerance to bullying ... poor cancer support in the workplace ... older workers worry HR ... put your back into it, advises HSE ... proposals to settle compensation claims ... FOM guidance – award for guidance on drug and alcohol misuse
- 10 LEGAL NEWS
 ... coping strategies are relevant under DDA – Commissioner of Police of the Metropolis v Mr GS Virdi
- 11 FEATURE
Occupational physicians for the 21st century
 With the Faculty of Occupational Medicine consulting on proposals to revise specialist training for occupational physicians, and more fundamental changes to the registration and training of doctors in general as a result of the Shipman Inquiry, the competency framework for occupational medicine is changing. The first of a two-part feature.
- 16 FEATURE
Managing addiction at work
 Employers are increasingly aware of drugs and alcohol misuse, and to a lesser extent gambling addiction at work, and some have initiated monitoring regimes. But what can be done to support the individual employee? Nic Paton examines the role of OH in the treatment and return to work of employees with alcohol, drugs or gambling problems.
- 22 SURVEY
Pre-employment health screening
 In the second of our reports examining the findings of the At Work Partnership's survey on pre-employment health screening, John Ballard explores whether pre-employment health questionnaires are up to date and how quality is assured, the use of
- medical examinations and GP reports, and how organisations manage difficult issues.
- 31 FEATURE
Tax incentives for OH
 Research highlighted at the annual health conference of the Association of British Insurers recommends that fiscal measures, particularly tax relief, should be used to encourage employers to invest more in services that get staff back to work quickly after illness or an accident. Paul Suff examines the research and the ABI's proposals.
- 34 INSIGHT
Strategic interventions
 Lord Hunt is the government minister with oversight of the HSC and HSE, and has responsibility for the Health, Work and Wellbeing Strategy and for vocational rehabilitation. OH at Work sought his views on the direction for occupational health in the UK.
- 36 EXPERT WITNESS
The compensation debate
 The Compensation Act 2006 introduces new provisions in relation to the law on negligence and breach of statutory duty and, specifically, on the way damages for mesothelioma are apportioned. Diana Kloss explains why the law is needed and the difference it is likely to make in practice.
- 38 BOOKSHELF & DIARY
 ... occupational health pocket consultant ... employment law and OH ... key events in occupational health
- 39 RESEARCH DIGEST
 ... post-trauma support ... smoking bans ... MSD rehab cuts costs ... chronic fatigue ... CFS guidelines
- 42 TOOLBOX
 ... roundup of regulatory changes ... revised asbestos regulations ... new construction regulations approved ... corporate manslaughter
- 43 BRIEFING
 ... your need to know guide to this issue