

[Inside this issue] JUNE/JULY_08

FEATURES ▶▶▶ LEGAL ▶▶▶ DILEMMA ▶▶▶ NEWS ▶▶▶ RESEARCH ▶▶▶ BRIEFING ▶▶▶ DIARY

- 03 LEADER
Suicide at work The House of Lords has ruled that employers can be liable for suicide where foreseeability can be established
- 04 ... HSE move under fire ... metal fume fever ... the HSC is dead, long live the HSE ... Remploy moves on in quest for mainstream employment ... DWP absence hits 10-day mark ... dust exposure research funding ... reasons to be cheerful – retirement anxiety ... cancer at work ... ageing workforce – employers' views ... training key to reducing absence ... Phillips calls for radical rethink on mental health ... 12% of absence is bogus, says CBI
- 12 LEGAL NEWS
 ... harassment at work must be criminal – Conn v Sunderland City Council
- 13 FEATURE
What next for sick notes?
 The government plans to pilot sick notes that outline the sort of work an individual could do, rather than what they cannot do. Caroline White examines whether 'fit notes' can really provide the answer to the perceived 'problems' of absence in the UK.
- 17 FEATURE
Occupational health for all
 Dame Carol Black's review of the health of Britain's working age population contains a raft of proposals to improve return to work from sickness absence and overcome barriers to getting people off benefits and into employment. But where are the preventive measures to stop workers falling ill in the first place, asks John Ballard.
- 23 DEBATE
Stop failing the UK workforce
 In an open letter to the HSE, Sheffield-based occupational health advisor Simon Pickvance challenges the health and safety regulator to address fundamental problems in the way work-related illness is perceived and addressed in Britain.
- 26 Preventing work-related ill health
 HSE chair Judith Hackitt replies to Simon Pickvance's demands for the regulator to improve its risk-management to prevent more workers suffering work-related illness, saying it has made progress over the past two decades and promises to publish a new health and safety strategy for Great Britain in the next few months.
- 28 DILEMMA
E-Learning
 Are online-only courses in OH doing justice to the students? The University of Sheffield's Jan Maw says that e-learning will widen access to high-quality training and education. Amanda Griffiths, at the University of Nottingham, disagrees, believing that face-to-face interaction between students and tutors, and between students, is a vital part of the learning experience.
- 30 EXPERT WITNESS
Product liability
OH at Work's legal expert Diana Kloss explains how a 1932 case involving a bottle of ginger beer and a snail helped to shape the development of product liability law.
- 32 RESEARCH DIGEST
 ... say no to powdered latex gloves ... CTS surgery and return to work ... women more prone to short-term absence ... death rattle blues ... alternative mouse RCT
- 34 RESEARCH PLUS
 Our compendium of published evidence on occupational health.
- 36 BOOKSHELF AND DIARY
 ... employee wellbeing ... prevention of work-related MSDs
- 37 TOOLBOX
 ... LEV systems ... when the inspector calls ... tune into the HSE ... UK risk assessment